DESCRIPTION:

Seeing is believing, and international films give us the experience of traveling beyond borders without a plane ticket or visa. The journey begins with screening of eight award-winning international films that examine global hotspots in conflict. Through films, you will visit Germany, Israel, France, Mali, Russia, Argentina, and parts of the United States.

These award-winning, powerful films serve as a catalyst for our post-screening class discussions about foreign film, as well as present-day issues in their geopolitical regions and how the films reflect different cultures, themes, and global issues. Films are to be seen at home and then discussed in class. They are available on Streaming – Netflix and Amazon Prime.

This is a FREE program, as an invitation to the Hospitality Committee, from Roberta Seret, PhD, President, International Cinema Education, NGO/United Nations
